

Day 19: Google+ Navigation and Connections

Google+ navigation is not dissimilar to Facebook, in term it has a newsfeed aka stream, status update, photos, video, friends, events, communities and pages.

However Google+ allows you to be able to really monitor the content you see and your share and select who gets to see what. Google+ is build around circles, in other-words lists.

So today's lesson we are going to show you around the G+ page and how to build your circles (contacts)

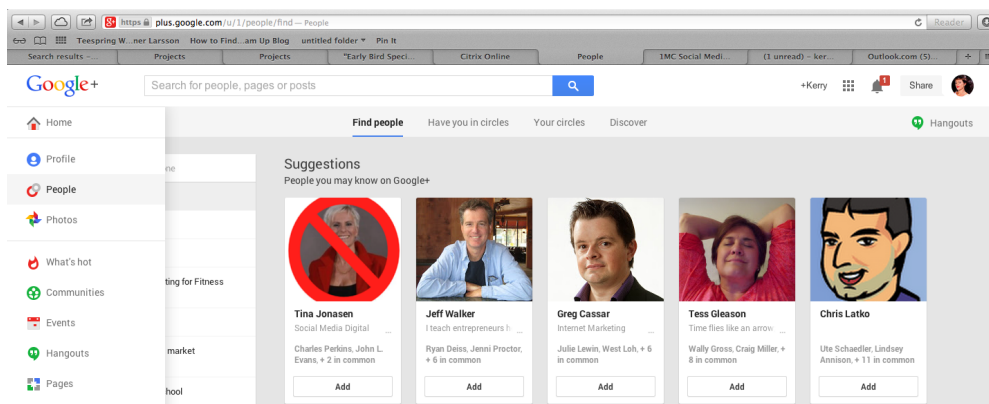

Stream: This is where you can view posts from people in your circle and pages you follow or any other information that might be relevant to what you have been searching for inside Google.

2: Share what's new: Status Update. You can share a text post, photo, video, link or an event. You can also choose who gets to see the post. Public, Extended Circles or your Circles:

3: Connecting with people: Build your Circles:

This is the part of Google+ that you will use the most. Create different circles so that you can choose who you want to share specific information with. After all, your friends from work might not be interested in seeing pictures of a family event or vacation. Likewise, you might be a member of a special interest group that other people don't want to be a part of.

1. Take your cursor to the Home button on your Google+ page
2. A menu appears on which you will find People. Click on it.
3. Then click on 'Your Circles'. You can click on '+' in order to create a circle of any name you choose.
4. You can then drag and drop people to the right circle. You could also type any person's name to see if they have a Google+ account. When the account appears you could drag it to the appropriate circle.
5. You can find connections through searching on Google+, Gmail, Other Connections including Yahoo. You can important your Facebook contacts into Yahoo then export your Yahoo contacts into Google+.

Now it is your turn:

- 1: Navigate your way around Google+
- 2: Add Status updates
- 3: Add Circles
- 4: Connect with people
